Entered at the Postoffice at Accomac C. H., Va., as second-class matter.

every citizen of that county is more or less interested, certain things are to be taken into consideration by every citizen who would deposit his tions ballot intelligently. That a court house ought to be centrally located and convenient as possible to the greatest number of its citizens are truths too self evident to be debatable even, and viewed from these standpoints their certainly seems to be no reason for a change in the site of the present courthouse of North-ampton. A claim for the courthouse bassador Cambon. at one end of the county on either of these grounds would be so absurd, that it would be farcical, if made. If these reasons, however, are not sufficient for the retention of the court house at its present site, the question house at its present site, the question that the court that the selections of the public schools. Write for further particulars. these reasons, however, are not suffiof additional taxation and of a depreciation of value in real estate not only at the present country seat but only at the only at the present county seat but for miles around it are entitled to some consideration at the hands of the voters? Why should the people burden themselves with the thous ands of dollars which would be nec cessarily incurred in public buildings by the removal of the courthouse? Why should the people impose upon themselves the additional taxation that the present country were represented. As a result of this rivary the board claims that a saving of at least $20,000 per annum has been effected, or $80,000 for the four years. Barnes' history of the United States, over which such a bitter fight was made during this and last year by Confederate Veterans, was not offered country were represented. If the people, however, of that county would pay tribute to of that county would pay tribute to Cape Charles because it is a thrifty town and they are proud of it, regardless of their convenience and the property interests of a great number of its citizens, then the question is presented in a light which had not occurred to us and a change in the least of the gourthouse of North. location of the courthouse of North-ampton ought to be made. But if the cock: S. W. Ames & Co., Pungoteague, idea should prevail, of the greatest good to the greatest number, then the opposite is true. For the reasons presented and others which space will not permit us to give, we do not believe the courthouse ought to be removed from its present site. Nor acres—8 acres in asparagus, 16 acres can we believe that many of the citizens 'native and to the manner born,' zens 'native and to the manner born,' zens, 'native and to the manner born,' in whatever part of the county they may reside, do favor it. That the peo ple of Northampton will show by their votes on Tuesday that they are the votes of "against removal," as did the people of Accomac years ago when a similar effort was made to remove their court house to the railroad we have no doubt, but they should show their disapproval in a way so empha tic that it will not be attempted

The prospect of peace, which the step taken by Spain give us the right to hope for, ought to be and doubt less is very gratifying to most of the American people. It cannot be exmay be expected, it is stated, before concessions will be made by Spain ted States. What these concessions will be has not yet been determined, but the indications seem to be, that Spain must give up to us Cuba, Porto Rico, probably the Ladrone Islands. and surrender to us a coaling station in the Philippine Island. The war ought notto be prolonged. Spain in her wretched condition ought to want peace on almost any terms and the ndications seem to be that this country is disposed to deal charitably with her enemy.

Richmond has secured the location for the much talked of Confederate Memorial Institute, or, as is better known, the Battle Abbey of the South. The claims of Richmond, Nashville, Atlanta, Washington and Montgomery, Ala., were presented be fore the board of trustees at a meeting in Atlanta, and after the first ballot Richmond received the unanimous vote for the location and it is presumed the work of constructing
